

Federal Education Funding Unfrozen

Previously delayed education funds have been released, bringing welcome news to school districts. The restored funding renews support for key services, including professional development, instructional supplies, tutoring, travel, and supplemental programs.

During the freeze, districts faced delays and uncertainty. With funding now restored, they can refocus on planning, compliance, and program implementation.

At The Excellence Group, we're here to help. Our team provides tailored support to help schools:

- Maximize current and incoming funds
- Navigate compliance and reporting requirements
- Evaluate existing programs for effectiveness
- Strategically plan for future needs

We remain committed to partnering with districts to ensure that students continue to receive the support they need, especially as schools recover from the disruption caused by the funding freeze. If your district needs assistance, we're ready to step in and support your goals.
